

The State Forest, a Colorado State Park, is the ultimate in rugged Colorado wilderness. It offers visitors 71,000 acres of unaltered mountain country – a true backcountry experience – with vast stretches of forest, jagged peaks and pristine alpine lakes. Camp, hike, fish and hunt in an unspoiled, natural landscape away from crowds.

To make your visit even more unique, the State Forest State Park boasts six historic mountain cabins available for rent year-round. The cabins are rustic like the park and can be part of a wonderful Colorado vacation. There is hiking, mountain biking, fishing, snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, OHV riding and snowmobile riding right from the door of the cabins. The cabins have access to the extensive road and trail network that exists in the State Forest State Park.

The cabins are charming but basic, equipped with wood-burning or propane stoves, wooden table, benches and bunk beds with mattresses. Outside there are fire grills and picnic tables. There is no electricity, running water, blankets or bedding. There is potable water available within 100 feet of the cabins. (Cabins 1, 2 and 3 have propane stoves for heat – cabins 4, 5 and 6 have wood burning stoves.)

The historic cabins are located on the north shore of North Michigan Reservoir. These cabins are accessible by vehicle all year.

Michigan cabins 1 and 2 have a maximum capacity of 21 and 15 people respectively. These cabins are perfect for reunions, hunting camps, youth groups or as an alternative to family camping. Michigan cabins 3, 4, 5 and 6 have a maximum capacity of six people.

All vehicles entering the park must have a valid parks pass. Daily passes are available at self-service stations at all park entrances, and an Annual Pass may be purchased at the Moose Visitor Center.

The State Forest State Park is only two hours from Fort Collins, 75 miles west on Colorado Highway 14, past the famous Sleeping Elephant Mountain and over the beautiful Cameron Pass to the town of Gould.
